The error HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" is designed to protect the priming process of your new machine. Without the correct starter cartridges, the printer cannot align its printheads properly. Therefore, whenever you see HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES", you must understand that you need the original setup kit. This guide will explain exactly why you are seeing HP PRINTER

"USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" and how to resolve it quickly so you can start printing.

Why Does HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" Appear?

The primary reason behind the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" warning is that HP printers require specially coded "setup" cartridges for the very first boot. These are not standard replacement cartridges; they contain a unique initialization code that calibrates the printer. When you insert a standard cartridge instead of the included setup ones, the system instantly flags the action. Consequently, the display shows HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" and locks the printing function. This feature ensures that the printer’s internal mechanisms are conditioned correctly. If you ignore the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" prompt, the printer may suffer from alignment issues or poor print quality later on. Many users accidentally toss away their setup cartridges, thinking they are just trial inks. However, discarding them leads directly to the dreaded HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" error. Once the printer flags this, the only way to move past HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" is to obtain the correct setup kit or bypass the initialization securely.

The Danger of Non-Setup Cartridges During First-Time Init

You might wonder why using a regular cartridge triggers the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" error. The answer lies in the chip technology. Non-setup cartridges do not carry the "starter" code that the printer needs to complete the initial charge. When the printer detects this discrepancy, it generates the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" notification. Attempting to use non-setup cartridges during first-time init can actually cause the printer to reject all cartridges permanently. Therefore, the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" warning is a safety measure. It forces you to use the correct components to avoid voiding your warranty. If you have tried multiple cartridges and still see HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES", it’s because the printer remembers the non-setup insertion. In many cases, the HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" error persists until the memory of the failed initialization is cleared or until you provide the correct setup kit.

The HP PRINTER "USE SETUP CARTRIDGES" error is hard-coded into the firmware during the initial boot sequence. While some advanced users attempt to downgrade the firmware to ignore this check, this is risky.
